FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

July 31, 2024

CLS Grows its Platform with American Acquisition Group

Darin Hittle, Chief Executive Officer of CLS, a leading provider of Right of Way, Land and Infrastructure Consulting Services in North America, is proud to announce that American Acquisition Group, LLC (AAG) has joined the CLS Family of Companies. The current AAG management team will continue to lead the organization, providing strategic leadership and oversight to the AAG business across its footprint.

“We are pleased to welcome the AAG team, customers, and partners to the CLS platform,” said Darin Hittle, “AAG aligns with our growth strategy and commitment to investing in organizations with shared values to build upon CLS’s market-leading services. Wade’s guidance and his management team’s industry knowledge will allow them to be great thought partners on where we all go next.”

D. Wade Brown, President of AAG, states: “We are pleased to join the CLS Family of Companies which recognizes the value of AAG and the success of our talented team in the delivery of land management, right of way and appraisal services. We look forward to this next phase for our team here at AAG. We will continue to deliver excellence to our customers and staff while increasing scale and depth through additional support from CLS and its platform.”

About CLS

CLS, founded in 1985, is one of the largest independent providers of land and infrastructure consulting services and related activities in North America. CLS’s services include a combination of land and infrastructure management solutions such as right of way acquisition, civil and environmental survey, cultural resource management, civil engineering & design, appraisal, environmental planning and real estate administration services. CLS serves utility, renewable, electric transmission and distribution, energy, rail, public infrastructure, solar and wind generation, and telecommunications clients. For more information, visit www.contractlandstaff.com.